

Updating Your Institution's Fields of Study

Our team has had many fruitful conversations about how ISEP can improve our work with both partners and students. One of the main themes highlighted is clarification on our program pages about the fields of study offered at an institution and the admission requirements. We are working to improve how students can identify sites that are a good fit academically, and this is our first step.

Field of Study

Using the attached Excel sheet, please indicate fields of study that meet the below criteria by marking an 'X' under the appropriate column (if a field does not meet the criteria, please leave it blank):

1. Offered - Please select these ONLY if courses are available to ISEP students with relative ease of registration and have general availability when ISEP students register:
 - Fields of study that are considered departments, faculties or majors at your institutions
 - Fields of study that are considered programs, certificates, or minors (if no faculty is available)

2. Recommended – Please select no more than 5 departments or faculties that meet these criteria:
 - ISEP students regularly and successfully register and complete coursework in this department
 - Lower and Upper level courses are available to ISEP students (we understand that pre-requisites may be required)

Admission requirements:

Please review the admission requirements for your university on our program page or include the following information below:

1. Minimum GPA:
2. Minimum Language Level (test score and/or LPR):
 - a. Minimum sub-scores if applicable:

Thank you in advance for your collaborative efforts on this project. Our goal is to make this process as smooth as possible for coordinators, as well as to make the placement process faster and more efficient. These changes will help us avoid student placements at institutions where the academic offerings needed are not available.
